The Game & Wildlife Conservation Trust is an independent wildlife conservation charity which has carried out scientific research into Britain's game and wildlife for the past 70 years. We provide advice to farmers and landowners on improving wildlife habitats and use our science to influence agricultural and conservation policies.

The GWCT has been revolutionising the way the British countryside is managed for the benefit of game and other wildlife. Our research has developed practical solutions for conserving game and wildlife through proactive and positive management. Many of our supporters take part in sporting pursuits. They invest in managing habitat in the countryside. This improves biodiversity and represents a philosophy of “conservation through wise use”.

Our county committees are the backbone of our fundraising efforts. Without their dedicated work, support, enthusiasm and impressive fundraising activities our research would be far less effective. If you would like to see our countryside conserved for future generations please support us.
